Course Description

This course provides an opportunity for students to discover the realities of modern marketing in contemporary situations, emphasizing the functional approaches; understanding the competitive environment: Knowledge required in evaluating markets effectively and adjusting to the rapid changes in the global managerial world.

Course Learning Objectives

1. Terminology - Students should learn to understand and use the language and terminology used in academia regarding modern marketing. In addition to the language, students will learn various marketing concepts that are helpful in managing and developing marketing plans. To some extent, students learn to apply those concepts.
2. Theory - Students should learn various marketing concepts and theories. By the end of this course, students will know how to identify retailing trends, communicating via marketing channels, pricing strategies and the concepts of creating value for organization products and services. In some cases students learn how to apply concepts discussed.
3. Attitude - Students should finish the course with a realistic attitude towards marketing and creating value. For example, students may find out that business use marketing techniques and that these techniques are not inherently unethical. On the other hand, the course will not try to convince students that firms that use integrative marketing techniques are great humanitarian or democratic institutions, either. Thus, this course is meant to shape the attitudes of students towards business marketing.
4. Teamwork - Students should have the opportunity to work in teams and gain experience in teamwork and cooperation. Most businesses now manage their work using teams and this course will set students on the right track to learning about teamwork. When students search for a job, most employers will ask about teamwork experiences. This course will provide in-class team exposure.
5. Writing & Analysis - Students will complete some case analysis and write reports for case analyses. These cases are designed to improve writing skills by learning to write a concise analysis of management cases. This also involves an analytical component. Both writing and analysis should prepare students for higher-level classes.
6. Internet - Students need to further develop internet skills to identify various resources available for organizations and to use them in enhancing decision making and analytical skills.

Marketing Plan Proposal
Final Project

This project requires a development of a marketing plan AND a presentation of it. You will work with two other classmates to finish the task. Your group can select a company based on your own interest or use a company assigned by the instructor. In your presentation, you will follow the instructions below and receive points accordingly.

OPENING (10 points)

Please list your project title, table of contents, date, team members on the front page
Your opening of presentation must include an introduction of the company selected, purpose of the marketing plan, products type and related regulations.

SITUATION ANALYSIS (35 points)

Industry and Market

Conduct an environmental scan for the market of your company and identify

EACH of the five environmental forces (social, economic, technological, competitive, and regulatory) faced by the company. Analyze how the trend of each of the forces could influence your company in the near future. You will need to separate your analysis based on the forces.

Market Segmentation

You will segment the market by following the next steps

Step 1: group potential buyers into segments

Step 2: group products into categories

Step 3: develop a market-product grid and estimate the size of each market segment

Select Target Market

Focus on a strategic business unit (SBU) of the company, which targets on a segment of the market. If there is no such SBU, you can choose a company brand that interests you and focus on the market of that brand.

You must (a) describe the customer behaviors, needs, wants, and decisions in the market segment, (b) analyze the trends and drivers of the target market (c) conduct a SWOT analysis for the company in the target market.

OPPORTUNITY (20 points)

Explore the area (s) of opportunity. You will need to address the need of the target market, the rationale in this market, the growth and potential of market.

Locate the unmet customer needs in the target market. In particular, define those needs in details, explore the consequences if the needs are satisfied, and demonstrate business growth potentials.

RESEARCH PLAN (25 points)

Define the knowledge gap based on the limitation of information.

Design a research plan to investigate the unknown areas or factors in the target market.

You should

- a. clearly set a research objective (e.g., consumers' attitude toward a newly designed product)
- b. determine the data you need (e.g., secondary data? / primary data?)
- c. design sample questions for a survey on potential customers
- d. Decide which type of survey (e.g., mail, online, telephone, individual interview, mall intercept survey) will you use and why?

STRATEGIC IMPLICATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS (5 points)

An Overview/Executive Summary must follow the previous analyses.

Make the ultimate recommendation of whether the company should invest in the target market

PRESENTATION SKILLS (5 points)

Your presentation will also be graded based on the clarity of your speech, your professional image, your mastery in the knowledge, etc.
